Terms of Use

Placeholder. This document is part of the application template and must be replaced with your own terms of use before the application is released. The sections below only outline what such a document typically covers.

1. Scope

Who operates the service, who may use it, and which parts of the service these terms cover.

2. Use of the service

Permitted and prohibited uses, user responsibilities, and consequences of misuse.

3. Accounts and access

Account creation, keeping credentials confidential, and what to do if access data is lost.

4. Content and copyright

Rules for content users upload or share, and how licensed or protected material is handled.

5. Data protection

A summary of how personal data is processed, with a reference to the full privacy policy.

6. Liability

Limitations of liability and availability of the service.

7. Contact

Contact details of the operator and of the data protection officer.